CINEMA AND CULTURAL STUDIES (CCS) - COURSES

CCS

Cinema and Cultural Studies

CCS 101 - B: Introduction to Cinema and Cultural Studies
An examination of the images and texts of film, television, art, photography and advertising, and how they characterize and shape our everyday lives. Students learn how to recognize, read, and analyze culture within a particular social, cultural, or political context, with special attention to race, gender, class, ideology, and censorship. Since this is the first course in our Cinema and Cultural Studies major, primary emphasis will be placed on film.

3 credits

CCS 201: Writing About Culture
The course teaches research methodology, develops critical thinking, and hone argumentative writing skills. A range of cultural artifacts, issues, and approaches are considered along with the ways that various discourses appropriate or critique them. Students gain extensive training in the methods essential to the use of resources and to critical writing.

Prerequisite: Completion of D.E.C. category A
3 credits

CCS 204 - D: The Stony Brook Film Festival: Films and Contexts
We will attend in the Stony Brook Film Festival as active participants. Students will be introduced to the history of film festivals and examine issues of film distribution and acquisition and how they relate to both the mainstream and independent film traditions. At the Stony Brook Film Festival, students will see the films, interact with both the organizers and the filmmakers, and engage in lively discussion about the films and the filmmaking process. Students will gain basic cinematic terminology, analytical tools used to interpret cinematic art and a basic understanding of the cinema industry.

3 credits

CCS 301 - G: Theorizing Cinema and Culture
Recent trends in critical theory applied to the study of film, television, literature, popular music, and other types of "cultural production." In-depth analyses of specific literary, visual, and musical texts are situated within structures of power among communities, nations, and individuals. Exploration of how identities of locality, gender, ethnicity, race, and class are negotiated through cultural forms.

Prerequisites: Two courses toward the major in cinema and cultural studies
3 credits

CCS 311 - G: Gender and Genre in Film
Examination of the notion of genre as a category of analysis and its often conflictive relationship to gender in the context of specific genres (the western, film noir, the horror film) and film story. Attention is paid to a particular genre's appeal to men and/or women as well as its relationship to larger social, cultural, and political issues.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 status; completion of DEC B
Advisory prerequisites: CCS 101, HUM 201, or HUM 202
3 credits

CCS 312 - I: Cinema and the Ancient World
A reading of Classical Texts alongside their representation in the cinema. Readings will include classical literature, contemporary treatments of the classics, and film theory. We will pay special attention to how filmmakers are much more attentive to ideas from the present than from the past when they construct their films around ancient texts.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing; completion of DEC B
Advisory prerequisite: CCS 101, HUM 201, or HUM 202
3 credits

CCS 313 - H: Television Studies
This course maps the social, cultural, and technological changes that the medium/media of television has experienced from its early ties to radio models of broadcast to the changes in reception wrought by the iPod.

CCS 314 - J: Latin American Cinema
This course studies a variety of aspects connected with the production, distribution, and reception of cinema in Latin America. Course includes a representative sample of films produced in every one of the major Latin American film producing nations (Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, and Cuba). It will also review a short selection of minor Latin American cinematographies and of indigenous film productions. All films will always be studied within the social, political and artistic context in which these works are produced. Readings include works by Latin American film directors and theorists that have contributed to the study of the films in the region and of film as a world art form.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing; completion of DEC B
Advisory prerequisite: CCS 101, HUM 201, or HUM 202
3 credits

CCS 390 - J: Contemporary African Cinema and Cultural Studies
This course will examine African traditions of graphic writing in their theoretical, literary, and cinematographic application. The emphasis will be placed on the visual arts and their political significance in contemporary African debates, and of particular interest will be the production of contemporary artists, the strategies they use, and their impact in both global and local discussions. The artifacts will additionally serve as tools to investigate the modalities of a contemporary African self-understanding through the lenses of images and graphic design.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing; completion of DEC B
Advisory prerequisite: CCS 101, HUM 201, or HUM 202
3 credits

CCS 392 - K: American Cinema and Cultural Studies
The history of cinema as art has been directly linked to the evolution and increment of multicultural societies. This course studies the ways in which film has either included or excluded representations of multiculturalism in the United States, and how films have discussed and participated in the different debates about cultural, ethnic, racial, sexual, gender and class difference within the United States. The course studies theoretical concepts such as difference, ethnicity, migration, incorporation and cultural contact zones.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 status; completion of DEC B
Advisory prerequisite: CCS 101, HUM 201, or HUM 202
